

Edgar Holland Visits Farm Home Sunday

Accompanies Officers There to Look After Personal Belongings

Edgar W. Holland, 43, former automobile dealer of Sedalia, held in the Pettis county jail on a first degree murder charge in connection with the murder of his wife, Molly Mattie Holland, 36, paid a visit to his home farm seven miles northwest of LaMonte, Sunday afternoon.

Holland's visit to the farm was to attend to some personal affairs and to ascertain if his stock was being taken care of, also to obtain some personal belongings such as his clothing and a razor. He was accompanied there by Sheriff Ross Bothwell, Deputy Sheriffs Archie Smith and Lawson Clinean. The latter is an auctioneer, and Holland indicated he might have to sell some of his personal property on the farm.

Prosecuting Attorney Leo J. Harned and State Trooper Lloyd Amos also went to the farm with the group and talked with Holland during his visit there. Their conversation, according to the officers, did not reveal any further developments in the case.

Captain J. F. Shaw, Jefferson City, who has been supervising the investigation of the finding of the two headless women in the Lake of the Ozarks in April, and whose bodies have been identified as those of Mrs. Holland and her mother, Mrs. Pearl Fairfax, today stated: "There are no new developments in the case, which can be made public at this time."

Working on the Case
Col. M. Stanley Ginn, patrol superintendent, has assigned state troopers to work with Prosecutor L. J. Harned "on any points he wants to investigate."

Here today with Captain Shaw is Captain V. L. Viets, commanding officer of Troop A, in whose district the murder is now being investigated. The two patrol officers will not divulge any information as to whether any new developments have occurred.

It was said by officers today that Holland had talked with Fred F. Wesner, lawyer, and discussed the possibility of Wesner handling the case for him.

Holland not only denied any connection with the killings, but accused the highway patrol of questioning him for four days under armed guard in a Jefferson City cabin camp before he was officially arrested last Saturday morning.

Ginn's Statement

Colonel Ginn said however, that "Holland was perfectly willing to be questioned in an attempt to clear himself. He paid his own board and lodging and was a free agent until the time we arrested him early Saturday. There was a trooper in the same cabin camp, but not in the same cabin with him." Colonel Ginn further said, "When evidence piled up on him and he told conflicting stories we arrested him."

This afternoon Captain Shaw and Captain Viets were in conference with Prosecuting Attorney Harned.

No charge was filed against Holland with reference to the death of Mrs. Fairfax, pending further investigation. The charge now against him was filed in the court of Judge C. W. Bente, as ex-officio justice of the peace, late Saturday.

Holland is held in the county jail without bond.

'Buy Coal Now' Says Governor

JEFFERSON CITY, May 22.—(P)—Gov. Forrest C. Donnell today urged Missouri city and county officials to "buy coal now" to avoid a jam of production and transportation facilities when cold weather arrives.

At the request of Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, the governor wrote mayors, county courts, newspapers and radio stations, warning "it would be impossible to meet the seasonal peak if everyone waited until fall to buy coal."

The aid of local defense councils was enlisted in a campaign to spur private coal buyers to early action.

"Those who take the coal now while the mid-western mines can supply it will be able to get enough fuel to meet their requirements," the state defense council said.

Stowaway Brides Appear Before Immigration Officials

Accused of stowing away, these Australian brides, Mrs. Ola M. Calderala, (left), wife of a technical sergeant, and Mrs. Margaret Blair, wed to a bombardier captain, recently discuss their plight with attorney Sol Abrams and Ship's Steward Paul Hahn, charged with harboring them aboard his ship, as they appeared before immigration hearing in San Francisco, Calif.

Work Begins Today on City's Airport

Leased to Jack Funk for Use as Flying School

Sedalia's municipal airport is taking form, with work starting at once on the temporary runways, moving fences and other improvements to make the ground useable. A meeting of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce airport committee, members of the city council, two representatives from the Transcontinental Western Airways was held this morning at which further developments were discussed.

Norvel W. Waldrom, traffic representative and C. L. Lundhead, design engineer, representing the T. W. A., described what minor developments, at a minimum cost, should be made for commercial airlines service at the present time.

Mr. Waldrom explained the value of having an airport as near a city as possible. "Time is saving a great factor in air service and will be a bigger factor after the war. Therefore," he said, "the closer the airport is to a city, the better service can be rendered to air travel in and out of Sedalia."

Time an Element
"For an example, post-war air travel is planned as such. Air speed from Kansas City to Chicago will be one hour and 33 minutes; from Kansas City to New York, three hours and 40 minutes; Kansas City to Los Angeles, Calif., will be five hours and five minutes. In view of the time element it is more and more desired that the good airport be located as close to the city and locality it is to serve, as possible."

"The accessibility of the present proposed airport of Sedalia, we feel is excellent. It has the time saving element desired and is spacious enough to handle most any post-war airline for either passenger or freight," Mr. Waldrom told the group.

Mr. Lundhead in his discussion explained the various developments desired, and gave to the group requirements necessary to put the field into an acceptable airport. Leased for Flying School
T. H. Yount, member of the city council, and a member of the airport committee from the council, explained that today work had started in cutting away the ground for the temporary runways, of the plans for a hangar, moving of the fences, and other improvements so that it can be used without a short time.

The field has been leased by the city council to Jack Funk, who will start an air school, within the near future. There are provisions in the lease which do not interfere with the improvements which are deemed necessary to make it useable by commercial air lines, nor with the use of the airport for such purpose, it was also explained.

Mr. Funk plans on opening the school to teach flying as soon as possible.

Alton Railroad Open To Through Traffic

MARSHALL, Mo., May 22.—(P)—The western division of the Alton railroad was opened to through traffic today with the completion of a temporary fill in the Glasgow bottom where the Missouri river flood cut away 1300 feet of embankment April 25.

An eastbound freight from Kansas City crossed the temporary fill this morning. The hole cut by the river ranged from eight to 50 feet in depth. The sand fill was put in by a government suction dredge.

Program at Court House Sunday for New Citizens

"I Am An American Day" program sponsored by the Osage Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution was held at the Pettis county court house Sunday afternoon.

The Sedalia Army Air Field band, under the direction of Warrant Officer T. O. Wilson, played several selections on the court house lawn, after which all went to the circuit court room.

An invocation was given by Rev. H. U. Campbell in the absence of Rev. A. J. Brunswick, who was called out of the city.

Capt. Bert Saunders of the Sedalia Army Air Field was the principal speaker.

A basket of flowers in patriotic colors arranged for the occasion by Mrs. C. L. Carter, president of the Sedalia Garden clubs, and presented in behalf of the Garden club was used on the judge's stand and the flags of all nations and two large American flags were used in decorating the room.

Mrs. J. E. Mitchell presented the men who had been naturalized the past year with American flags.

American Legion Aided
American Legion Auxiliary police were on hand and twelve women from the Red Cross, headed by Mrs. Arthur Kahn and Mrs. Robert Spencer, also assisted.

Open house was held from 2:00 to 3:00 o'clock in the lobby of the court house where the Historical Society has its museum. Members of the Daughters of the American Revolution were hostesses and after the program showed the guests around and explained the exhibits.

The hostesses were: Mrs. J. L.

Truman Calls for Cooperation

NEW YORK, May 22.—(P)—Sen. Harry S. Truman (D-Mo.) chairman of the senate war investigating committee, called today for "the utmost cooperation and mutual understanding between government, business and labor" in building a postwar prosperity in this country.

In an address prepared for the annual meeting of the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce, Truman said government must provide a sound and fair tax system to encourage new business and the expansion of existing small and intermediate business.

"It (government) will have to content itself with formulating the rules of the road," Truman said, "it must not attempt to occupy the driver's seat, either as to business or labor."

Business, he continued, "will have to avoid cartels and combinations and to concentrate on producing more and better goods," as well as learn to "earn its income by working with small margins of profit on a vastly increased amount of business."

Labor's role, Truman said, will be to "concentrate on its legitimate desires for high wages and good working conditions."

Youths Talk at Rotary Club

Three members of the Smith-Cotton high school speech class, taught by Miss Ann Sawford, were on the program at the Rotary club meeting today at the Bothwell hotel.

Don Lamm, Jr., gave the oratorical declamation by Rickenbacker, "Patriotism in the Service."

Barry Regan presented a dramatic reading, "The Rag," and Rudolph Grother, gave his own thoughts on "What the Eighteen Year Old Boy Sees for the World of Tomorrow." Young Grother said that he was for V. E. O. B. which stands for Victory First Order of Business, and justice with lasting peace.

Visitors were: Rotarian Tom H. Callis, Luxora, Ark., and W. L. Perkins, guest of Harry Broughan.

The speaker at the next meeting will be Col. A. M. Hitch, president of the Kemper Military school at Boonville, who is the new governor of the 134th district of Rotary international.

Frank Bryant, president, presided over the meeting today, and R. I. Van Hoesen acted as program chairman in the absence of Forrest Drake, who is out of the city.

A meeting of the directors followed the regular meeting.

United States Leases Ships To the British

Contract for Duration; Titles With United States

WASHINGTON, May 22.—(P)—The United States—now the owner of the world's largest navy—has leased almost 1,400 naval craft to the British under lend-lease.

They include more than 30 convoy-escort aircraft carriers, destroyer-escorts and the merchant ships, a lend-lease report showed today and are in addition to the $200,000,000 worth of landing barges, PT boats and other smaller craft sent to the United Kingdom.

The bigger vessels which sail from American docks under their own power are leased to the Allies for the duration of the war. Title remains with the United States.

By Howard Flieger

WASHINGTON, May 22.—(P)—Lend-lease arms and equipment to power a three-way invasion smash at Europe are moving out of this country at a steadily growing speed, President Roosevelt told congress today.

"United Nations forces are now about to strike new and mightier blows at Nazi-occupied Europe from offensive bases in the west, the south and the east," the president said as he submitted the 15th report on lend-lease operations.

"They are armed with the most powerful weapons that the combined resources and ingenuity of the United Nations can produce."

Through lend-lease we have made certain that every man in the forces of the other United Nations who goes into battle beside an American fighting man has what he needs to hit the common enemy as hard as possible."

To Britain and Russia

The report shows $25,225,000,000 worth of equipment, services and supplies have gone from this country's lend-lease arsenal—nearly three-fourths to Britain and Russia and much of it in recent months.

"China is being helped to the utmost of our ability," Mr. Roosevelt said. But the report itself shows the supplies being flown into that country—already record-breaking in terms of air transport—are only a trickle against the flood of equipment being massed before the Nazi fronts.

More than $1,000,000,000 in planes and parts, a like amount of guns and ammunition, an almost total value in tanks and war vehicles have gone to the United Kingdom—three-fourths of them in the past year. British bombers are dumping American-made charges on Germany and American fighters roar up from the decks of British carriers.

In the first 60 days of 1944, the report shows, more than 2,100 lend-lease planes, almost 2,000 tanks and over 60,000 other military vehicles were sent to our Allies, the bulk of them to invasion dumps.

First Soldier Ballot Cast in Pettis County

Teen Age Boys Injured in Auto Crash

Junior Hargrove Driver of Car Has Fractured Leg

Five teen-age boys were injured about 11:25 o'clock Sunday night, when a speeding car in which they were riding left the pavement on East Broadway in the 1220 block, crashed into a tree and rolled over. Two of the boys are still patients in the Bothwell hospital.

Lewey "Junior" Hargrove, 17, son of Mrs. Frances Hargrove of 1408 South Monticau avenue, was the driver of the car. Hargrove received a compound fracture of the left leg, just above the ankle. Both bones were snapped. He also received minor cuts and bruises. He remained in the hospital.

Geo. Luckey, Jr., 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Luckey, 611 West Third street, suffered severe lacerations on the left arm. The right side of his head was practically scalped and several deep lacerations were made in the right side of his head. He had other minor cuts and bruises. He remained in the hospital.

Raymond Moon, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Moon, 1015 East Seventh street, received a laceration on the left side of his head, just behind the ear, also laceration on the left cheek, scratch on the right foot and a bruised left leg and knee.

William Wheeler, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe R. Wheeler, 1220 East Thirteenth street, received a bruise to the right shoulder.

Henry Lamm, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lamm, 3000 South Ohio avenue, received a slight head injury and bruises. He was the only boy of the five not taken to the hospital.

"Jerked" Steering Wheel
Residents in the neighborhood reported to the police that the car was headed east on Broadway and apparently was in a race with another car, described as being "black."

Both cars ran through the red traffic signal at Broadway and Engineer and one car crowded the car driven by Hargrove, according to the police report.

Hargrove told officers the car pulled up and cut in front of him. He said he "jerked" the steering wheel and that was the last he remembered.

The car left the pavement nearly seventy feet from where it struck the pavement, according to a police investigation, spun around and crashed into a tree. The car in rolling over pinned the Moon boy underneath.

The other boys were tossed out of the car.

Persons living nearby rushed to the scene and pushed the car back on its wheels, releasing the Moon boy.

The car, it was reported to the officers, belongs to Kenneth Hicks, 1701 South Prospect avenue, and was completely demolished.

Hicks told the officers that he wanted to sell the car and had let Hargrove have it earlier in the night. He said the boy tried it out and brought it back. Hicks, according to the police, said he did not know the boys had the car later.

The injured youths were taken to the hospital in the McLaughlin and Gillespie ambulances.

Japanese Peace Terms

LONDON, May 22.—(P)—Japanese "peace terms" to the United States involving such "demands" as confiscation of the entire American navy have been published in the Japanese periodical "Mei-ho," a Berlin broadcast said today.

Other conditions:
"All expenses arising out of taking over American ships by Japan are to be paid by the United States."

"All large ships of the merchant fleet are to be put at the disposal of Japan."

"All naval installations, naval stations, dockyards, arsenals, colleges and other centers of naval education are to be destroyed."

"In case of the scuttling of a single ship 10 times its value should be paid the Japanese government."

Major Somewhat Embarrassed

Thirty-five overseas veterans from O'Reilly General hospital, Springfield, Mo., were in St. Louis for a series of personal appearances in connection with the observance of National WAC Recruiting Week, originally set for the period from May 11 through 17 and later extended to May 25.

One of the group, a sergeant who had been injured during the North African Campaign, was walking along a downtown street when he was stopped by a major who reprimanded him for not saluting.

"When are you going to start being a soldier?", the officer wanted to know.

"I'm sorry sir," replied the sergeant, "but you see my right arm was pretty badly messed up by a shell fragment during the battle of Kasserine Pass. It's much better now but I still can't raise my hand above my waist."

The sergeant then continued his stroll, leaving a highly embarrassed major standing in the middle of the sidewalk.

Eisenhower Explains How To Help Allies

Occupied Countries Can Give River, Road, Bridge Information

By Ned Nordness

LONDON, May 22.—(P)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's supreme headquarters told the peoples of occupied countries today more ways to help the invasion armies—by providing intimate knowledge about roads, bridges, rivers, woods and possible landing fields.

The broadcast came after a German threat of "terrible and bloody reprisals" against any French patriots who heed Eisenhower's previous call to take up arms and help the invasion forces.

A member of Eisenhower's staff told the radio listeners:

"Listen carefully. For some time you have been receiving from voices already well known to you advice and instructions on how to prepare yourselves for the final phase of the struggle for liberation."

"The supreme commander wishes you to know that what you have heard is in accordance with his plans and wishes. In due course, you will receive advice and instructions from the supreme commander himself. In the meantime, he directs you to continue to note well and to act on advice and instructions by speakers whom I introduce in his behalf."

"Now here is a speaker to give you the second operational instructions. . . ."

This Speaker Said:
"The subject is the importance of everyone having the fullest knowledge of his or her own surroundings. This applies equally to town and country districts. Allied forces or individuals will repeatedly want information. Often they will want guides. It is very important that this information should be accurate and that guides should be quite certain of the way by day or night."

"Answers might be wanted to such questions as these:

"First about roads. How many roads come into the town or village? Are they marked or easily identified? Are there any road blocks? If so, is there any way around them? If main roads are not usable, what are the alternative routes? Are fields passable to an ordinary motor car?"

"The next is about woods. Are there any large or small woods close by here? Have any been cut down recently? Are these woods full of undergrowth or could army transport be hidden in them? Are there any paths and are they passable to an ordinary motor car?"

"The next is about rivers and streams. How deep is the water? Is the bottom muddy? Are the banks steep?"

Bridge Information

"Information about bridges might be wanted. Are they strong enough for the heaviest lorries? Are there any fords? If so, can motor cars and tractors cross them?"

"The next is about possible spaces for landing aircraft. Any piece of level unobstructed ground 400 meters or more in length is available—and this is most important—there is no high obstruction such as trees on the side from

Kiel, Nazi Submarine Center Hit

Eighty Hours of Continuous Bombing Over Germany and Occupied Countries

By Austin Bealmear

LONDON, May 22.—(AP)—Flying Fortresses bombed the German submarine center of Kiel and U. S. Liberators pounded German fortifications in the Pas-De-Calais area of France today after a night in which 750 heavy British bombers saturated the major inland Nazi port of Duisburg with 2,800 tons of explosives.

The double-barreled daylight blow carried the newest Allied aerial prelude to the western invasion past 80 hours of continuous day-night attacks.

Up to 250 Flying Fortresses and the same number of Liberators, each group protected by swarms of American fighters, struck the twin assault.

Hannover, a rail and rubber center, and a German airfield in Belgium, were other British targets of the night.

Thirty British planes were lost in the night attacks.

Some 3,000 Allied planes, most of them fighters, sprayed Nazi transport in Western Europe yesterday with cannon and machine-gun fire. These fighter sweeps and the RAF night blows dovetailed into the Allied strategy aimed at crippling Germany's movement of troops and supplies to combat the impending invasion from the west.

Bombed Many Times
Duisburg, Germany's greatest inland port, had been bombed 61 times previously, of which seven were major attacks.

The attack on this city of 300,000 last night was described by the air ministry as "very heavy." While Duisburg was being pummeled other British bomber formations cracked down on objectives in Hannover, raided a Nazi airfield in Belgium and carried out extensive mine laying in waters frequented by enemy shipping.

The loss of 30 night bombers was the greatest sustained by the RAF since May 3, when 49 bombers failed to return.

Located at the confluence of the Rhine and Rhur rivers Duisburg is a terminal for vast quantities of heavy freight, including coal, iron and steel for both Germany and Italy.

Hannover, last attacked on the night of April 11, is the most important German rail center between the Reich and the low countries. It previously has been the target of four major raids.

Airmen back from Duisburg reported fierce combats over the city. They had little opposition on the way to the target, however, and the bombs started plunging down before the German fighter packs arrived.

Gift of $100,000 To Missouri College

LIBERTY, Mo., May 22.—(P)—A feature of the 95th annual graduating exercises at William Jewell college today will be the announcement of a $100,000 gift to the college by Dr. and Mrs. W. T. Semple of Cincinnati. If the college campaign to raise $3,000,000 is successful by December, 1949, the Semples plan to increase their gift to $250,000.

The quarter-million-dollar fund will endow the department of classics at the college in honor of the memory of Dr. Semple's father, Robert Baylor Semple, professor of classics at the college from 1868 to 1908.

DAILY WASHINGTON merry-go-round

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, May 22 — Inside fact about Father Orlemanski's now famous trip to Moscow is that his passport was expedited by the White House. The state department had little to say about it.

A good many military and diplomatic matters are discussed directly between the White House and Stalin, and this apparently was one of them. Anyway, the state department got word that the Russian government was interested in having Father Orlemanski come to Moscow, and so, in the case of most such Allied requests, this one was promptly granted.

The church hierarchy, hearing about the matter, immediately made inquiries aimed to stop the issuance of a passport but, although the state department listens sympathetically to church requests, in this case the passport was considered out of state department hands.

The White House had taken the view that, if Stalin thought he could reconcile Polish and Russian views, plus relations between Russia and the Catholic church, through Father Orlemanski, no stone should be placed in his path.

Meanwhile, a Soviet plane was sent to Detroit, and the priest got aboard before church officials could make any other efforts to stop him. The route the plane took, via Alaska and Siberia, is one of the most secret of the war, and has been accorded only to a few people, such as Wendell Willkie, on special request. U. S. ambassadors ordinarily have to go the longer way via Europe.

GOP Running Mate for FDR?
Around the White House, it is whispered that it wasn't entirely diplomatic business that brought U. S. Ambassador John Winant back from London. In fact, some of FDR's friends hint that the president has Winant in mind as his running mate on a Republican-Democratic coalition ticket.

The president first got to know Winant when the former was governor of New York and the latter was governor of New Hampshire. FDR was close to several Republican governors at that time, another being Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania.

After he entered the White House, the president appointed Winant as U. S. representative to the International Labor office in Geneva, then brought him back to head the Social Security department.

Those around the president find him turning over in his mind the idea of a prominent, liberal Republican as his running mate. Probably this dates from his reading of the life of Abraham Lincoln and the fact that, in the war election of 1864, Lincoln, a Republican, purposely drafted a Democrat, Andrew Johnson, to be vice president.

Various Republicans have been talked about or scrutinized by the president, including War Production Board wizard Charles Wilson and Undersecretary of State Ed Stettinius. But lately, the president is reported veering to Ambassador Winant, on the ground that Winant, having spent some time abroad, would be best qualified to handle foreign policy and mold the peace, if and when FDR himself should want to step down after the war is over.

Patton Speech Leak
The army is still irked over the manner in which General Patton's London speech — that England and America were destined to rule the world — leaked past the censor. It was supposed to have been stopped by Col. Jock Lawrence, press relations aide to General Eisenhower and one of the ablest public relations men in the business.

Lawrence was a public relations counsel for the motion picture industry before the war and worked with Wendell Willkie to smooth out the abortive senate investigation of Hollywood in 1941. Since Pearl Harbor, he has been in England and one of his jobs has been to keep the censor's muzzle on army brass hats.

However, General Patton got away from him, letting his speech be published by the British Press Association before Lawrence had time to clap on the muzzle. All Lawrence could do was to add the word "Russia" to Patton's original declaration that Britain and the United States were destined to rule the world. This was why Patton's speech, as reported one day, named Britain and the United States as the world's future rulers while, next day it named Britain, the United States and Russia.

The war department has now

Fly Control Is Important Officer Says

Warns of Dangers To be Watched In Hot Weather

Lt. Col. Carl T. Doeing, Medical Corps, Base surgeon at the Sedalia Army Air Field, has written an interesting and informative article on Fly Control, which is particularly fitting at this time of the year. It follows:

The problem of fly control is a most acute one, neglect of which may result in the most serious consequences to the health of the civilian population. Every precaution possible must be taken not merely once, but continuously and consistently. It is the responsibility of each and every owner and manager of restaurants and eating places, as well as the employees, to see that a proper program of fly prevention and eradication is maintained. Failure to keep one establishment sanitary will result in infestation of surrounding eating places.

The chief fly concerned is the house fly (Musca Domestica) a common pest that has been shown to be a very dangerous carrier of such diseases as typhoid and paratyphoid fevers, cholera, both bacillary and amoebic dysentery, summer diarrheas, etc.

House Fly
The house fly does not bite or suck blood. The biting stable fly (Stomoxys Calcitrans), which is likewise a common pest, does have such habits. Its bite causes a sharp stinging pain. Its breeding habits are similar to those of the house fly.

Flies breed in almost any damp decaying organic matter, plant or animal. They have been found breeding in wet newspapers, piles of wet leaves, grass, etc. Food wastes, however, are the chief source of fly breeding, so that absolute cleanliness and care in garbage disposal is a necessity for fly control.

A single female house fly may lay as many as 2,000 eggs, which hatch into larvae in as little as 8 hours. The larvae (maggots) reach maturity on an average in 4 or 5 days and then transform into inactive "Pupae." From these pupae in some 3 to 10 days emerge the adult house flies.

In 8 to 15 days, therefore, a single female fly may have 2,000 offspring. After one or more like periods, her grandchildren may number one million and after another cycle, or only 24 to 25 days after the original eggs were laid, she may have two hundred fifty million grandchildren.

Preventative Measures
(a) Prevention of breeding — Carelessness in garbage disposal is the most dangerous present cause of flies around eating establishments. The soil around the garbage warned Patton that he is to say absolutely nothing.

Kentucky Democratic Squabble
Despite ODT requests against travel, Senators McCarran of Nevada and "Happy" Chandler of Kentucky went down to Louisville for the Derby. When hailed by friends at the race, Happy remarked that he had to do something to "get away from the poll-tax fight."

Also he took the opportunity to look into the squabble over who is going to be on Kentucky's Democratic delegation to Chicago. Barkley is considered the logical man to head it.

So, as a compromise, Happy sent word to Barkley that he, Alben, could head the delegation provided Happy could name the chairman of the state Democratic committee, the national committeeman and the secretary of the state committee. Also, Happy wants to bar Lyter Donaldson, ex-candidate for governor, from the delegation because he is too friendly to FDR.

Barkley sent word back that he had never aspired to set up a political machine in Kentucky and therefore didn't plan to let Chandler do it now.

bage cans and stands ordinarily show a large amount of pollution. Water has usually soaked into this soil, carrying with it grease and other wastes in which flies breed rapidly.

The greatest care must, therefore, be taken to prevent pollution of the soil under and around garbage cans.

All soil that could possibly be contaminated should be dug up to a depth of at least 18 inches, thoroughly mixed with waste motor oil and then be tamped back into place hard. This must include all soil from under garbage cans and racks, as well as for an area of at least 3 feet around all garbage stands.

Fly breeding can be prevented by frequently mixing the soil with borax, but this is only a temporary measure and is not as efficient as oiling and tamping.

All waste materials around eating establishments should be collected and properly disposed of. All too often, the employees of eating establishments merely shove scraps out of sight under the garbage platforms, buildings, etc. This is an important feature and should be carefully checked.

Control of Adult Flies

(a) Proper screening should keep flies out of buildings. All screening must be kept in proper repair, tight fitting and without holes. Screen doors must never be propped open for any reason. If the springs on doors are not strong enough to hold against the wind, more springs should be put on. All needed repairs should be reported promptly to the owner or manager and repaired immediately. No large open cracks under or around screen doors or anywhere else should be permitted. Strips of burlap will often serve to prevent ingress of flies.

Sticky fly ribbons should be used in all restaurants. These should be hung over no tables, benches, counters or shelves where food is placed. They should be changed frequently and when necessary.

Fly traps should be placed in shady spots out of the wind. Around restaurant doors and garbage areas is the best location. A fermented bait, such as the following should be used:

- 1—Corn meal 8 oz.
- 2—Molasses 5 oz.
- 3—Water 16 oz.
- 4—Yeast 1/2 cake.

Mix the water and molasses and heat to boiling. Pour the boiling mixture over the corn meal. Stir thoroughly and cool. When cool, add the yeast, stirring thoroughly. Allow to stand in a wide mouthed jar with a thin cloth tied over the top from 3 to 4 days. Sugar syrup may be used instead of molasses and bran or corn starch instead of corn meal. The baits in the traps should be emptied at least at weekly intervals. Flies in the traps may be killed with boiling water.

Public eating establishments should be sprayed thoroughly at frequent intervals. There are many good fly sprays on the market. Spraying of flies in restaurants is best done after meal time. A regular program for swatting flies just before the meal time rush should also be instituted, making each employee responsible.

Fly control in civilian population is a matter that concerns everyone. It is most decidedly not a matter of "every restaurant for itself." It is true that every restaurant must institute and carry on its own program, but every restaurant should regard itself as directly responsible for the health of its neighbors as well as its own. One unsanitary area around an eating establishment can breed enough flies to infest the whole surrounding quarter of the city.

DIRTY WORK AT THE CROSSROADS

XX
TILDA COURTRIGHT entered the inn. But Norma was there, and she couldn't talk to Norma now. She hurried on, into the garden. She couldn't stand the sight of the garden, she realized. She went on to the woods, among the trees. She was, without realizing it, almost running.

One of the Japanese soldiers stopped her. "Tomare!" he said suspiciously, and demanded where she was going and why.

She called him an idiot, speaking Japanese. It had no effect on the soldier. Then he told her that Captain Azaraski wished to speak to her.

"Very well. But go get him," she said sharply. "I will not wait long on him."

Tilda Courtright thought about herself while she waited. None of the thoughts were very pleasant. She had told Link that she was the wreck of an idealist. That wasn't a joke. She was also an old woman confused by the world. An old woman, she suspected, who was defeated.

She had also told Link she was an old maid schoolmarm from Iowa. This was an understatement. She was, or at least she had once thought, important to humanity. To the Japanese. She had given her life to educating them. Missionaries had the same feeling about their savages, probably.

For years she had been an important foreign advisory expert to the Japanese Educational Department. Except for that, she knew, she would have been thrown in internment prison with the rest of the foreigners.

She was still an American to the tips of her toes. The very day of Pearl Harbor, she'd given up all hope for Japan. As far as she was concerned, anyway. She'd washed her hands, mentally, of the little tea-colored monkeys. She'd kept her mouth shut, though, and remained out of internment prison.

Then, when Captain Azaraski came to her with the Greer case, she had no choice. She could not refuse.

If she refused to help, it meant that Lincoln Belt would be tortured horribly and possibly killed. Then Norma would surely receive the same treatment.

She had hoped to save them. So she had accepted Azaraski's proposition.

She had even entered into Azaraski's counterplot, whereby the three of them, Azaraski, Baldwin and herself, would share the gains. She didn't expect to get a thing in the end. She wouldn't have accepted it.

Anyway Azaraski would see that she got nothing. Azaraski was as crooked as a Scotchman's walking-stick.

Her only hope was to get out of Japan, in the end. So she had hired Monk, one Japanese she could trust, and his fishing boat. Monk would take her to Russia.

She saw no way of getting Link and Norma to Monk's boat, so they could escape Japan too. So she hadn't planned on that. The best she could hope for was to get them safely returned to prison, with the Japanese satisfied there was nothing to gain by troubling with them any more.

Now she was afraid. Afraid she wouldn't be able to save Link and Norma.

Azaraski joined her, well pleased with himself. He led her out of earshot of the soldier.

"I wanted to ask you," he said, "if Link has found out that Norma's brother was his pilot."

"No," said Courtright, forcing calmness into her voice, and lying. "He hasn't."

For a moment Azaraski's face was ugly with disappointment. "If they weren't stupid Americans," he said, "they would have found it out."

She didn't trust herself to answer that.

Azaraski said, "It's up to you to bring up the subject."

"I do not know whether I am that clever."

"Do it. Do it quickly," Azaraski scowled. "I am getting impatient." She stared at him and a horrible thought entered her mind. Did he plan to kill Link and Norma after this was over? It was quite possible he did.

LATER, with the widest of smiles on his flat face, Captain Azaraski approached Link. "Excuse me, please, have you been hunting me?" he asked. "I have been going to chapel for a few minutes."

Link was in a mood where he wanted to make nasty remarks, but he felt he couldn't very well slam a man's religion. He forced himself to behave casually.

"I was wondering," Link said, "how long we were going to stay here. I haven't started sightseeing the inn yet."

Azaraski rubbed his hands together. "Pal, I wanted to keep that surprise until later," he said.

"Well, well, another surprise," Link said dubiously. "That's fine, pal. What is it this time, a centipede?"

Link could guess what it was. He had a kind of premonition that Azaraski's surprise would be: They could stay at the inn a while.

Sure enough: "You can spend maybe two or three days here at the inn," said Azaraski. "Isn't that wonderful?"

"Sure," said Link. "Wonderful, wonderful."

"Believe me, I had some trouble arranging it," said Azaraski.

You're undoubtedly a liar and you do a good job of it, Link reflected. At any rate, I feel the dirty work at the crossroads is just commencing.

Lasting Peace One Goal Of Farm Bureau

Generous Donations To Relief Projects Reflect Tolerance

To work toward a just and lasting peace is another of the goals of the Pettis County Farm Bureau which is being stressed by the Home and Community committee.

The promotion of international good will through participation in Home and Community projects is one of the leading phases of this goal. This year Pettis County contributions to the funds for China Relief and Seeds for Britain and Russia have done much to help bring that good will.

The Red Cross Clubmobile which the Home and Community are helping to buy also helps on international good will as they go into many other countries including Australia, North Africa, Italy, Sicily, India, and Great Britain. These clubmobiles are driven to isolated spots where service men are on duty and unable to go to club centers in cities. They also go to air fields where they serve food to the returning bombing crews.

Conveniently Equipped

The clubmobiles are outfitted with a coffee urn, doughnut machine, papers, magazines, victrola, movie, library, and writing materials. They are manned by three American Red Cross workers and a trained mechanic.

Pettis County contributions toward these projects so far this year have come from: Blackwater Progressive Extension club, Georgetown Homemakers, Bothwell Homemakers, Bois d'Arc Extension club, Hughesville Extension club, Oak Grove club, Ionia Extension club, Smithton Extension club, Hillview Extension club, Oak Point Club, Cartwright school, Miss Elizabeth Scott, and Mrs. Bruce Claycomb.

Because of the interest in such activities as this it is expected that other individuals and groups will help enlarge the Pettis county contribution.

Foreign Addresses Available

To help cultivate tolerance and understanding of other countries some Pettis county women may be interested in corresponding with farm women of other lands. Addresses are available through the State Farm Bureau office.

Mrs. Robert Rissler of Prairie township is the Home and Community member who is in charge of these activities to work toward a just and lasting peace.

Her committee also encourages the study of the service pledge of the associated women of the world and the American Farm Bureau Federation to help promote good will and peace.

Next Week in the Kitchen

Baking Cakes and Cookies

For best results when baking cakes in a deep pan, arrange the cakes so that the center of the cake is near the center of the oven.

For a two-layer cake bake both on the same shelf arranging so the pans do not touch each other or the oven wall. For a three-layer cake place two pans on the bottom shelf so they do not touch each other or the oven walls and so the third layer on the top shelf is not directly above either of the other two. For four layers stagger two layers on the lower shelf and two layers on the upper shelf arranging pans so they do not touch each other or the oven wall.

The oven should not be overcrowded when baking. Reports have shown that a higher temperature is required when reflective baking dishes are used such as shiny tin or aluminum pans, and a somewhat lower temperature is required when baking dishes which absorb heat are used, such as granite, pyrex, or cast iron.

Cookies, biscuits or other thin, baked products baked in too deep a pan may burn on the bottom and not brown on the top because the heat cannot circulate over them properly. Cookie sheets should be without sides or with sides less than one inch high. Too, cookie sheets may be so large in proportion to the size of the oven that they interfere with the proper circulation of the heat. There should be at least an inch between the sides of the oven and the cookie sheet.

Why Biscuits Differ

Did you ever wonder why different people make such different biscuits, even when they say they use the same recipe? It is true that with exactly the same ingredients and oven temperature, your biscuits may come out four different ways. It's all in the way you mix and handle the dough.

If you just stir the dough together and then drop it by spoonfuls on a baking sheet, you'll have small irregular rough-looking drop biscuits, or emergency biscuits. That's a good kind to make when you're in a hurry. If you stir the dough quickly and roll and cut out the biscuits with the least possible handling, you'll have a flat, smooth, crusty biscuit. If you knead the biscuit on the board before you roll it out, giving about 15 to 18 strokes, you'll get a tall, light, flaky biscuit—the kind the funny papers joke about.

For tender light biscuits handle lightly and do not use any more flour on the board or rolling pin than you have to. Just enough to keep the dough from sticking. And if you're in a hurry and still want tender flaky biscuits rather than rough drop biscuits, cut the dough with a floured knife into squares or rectangles rather than use a round biscuit cutter. You'll save a lot of time. A plain biscuit in any shape tastes just the same.

Garden Fresh Versus Home Canned

For one kind of garden vegetable, food specialists suggest: Grow more and can less. Fresh greens can offer family meals so much more appetite appeal as well as food value. For this reason home gardeners will do well to plan and plant to provide fresh greens for the table over a long season.

The housewife who puts up a big batch of greens in the spring for year-round use when she could have fresh greens from the garden makes herself extra work and serves less appetizing food.

By choosing the right kind of greens for the seasons, the garden may supply fresh greens over a 6 to 8 months period in many parts of the United States. Many greens, such as kale and beets, will withstand considerable cold and may be had in the garden not only in the spring, but often until late in the fall as well. A few greens, such as Swiss chard and New Zealand spinach, will stand considerable heat in the summer.

Greens are most delicious when cooked a short time until just tender but still bright in color, crisp in texture, and fresh in flavor. In contrast to the few minutes required for cooking fresh greens is the long period needed for safe canning of greens.

Greens must be processed under pressure in canning like other acid foods, and because they make a dense pack, require longer processing than many other garden vegetables. Pint jars require 95 minutes processing at 10 pounds pressure; quart jars 105 minutes. Properly canned greens, therefore, are wholesome enough but of necessity are different from quickly cooked greens. Some wild greens—dandelions for example—that are delicious fresh take on a more bitter flavor and a darker color when canned.

On Keeping Cheese

Cheese for civilians will be less plentiful this year. Here are some tips on keeping it in best condition and avoiding waste from molding, melting or drying. Most of the cheese on the market this year will be American cheddar. Rules for keeping it are much like those for keeping ham in the home. Cheese keeps best when cold and closely covered from moist air that encourages mold and dry air that hardens it.

The home refrigerator is the best place to keep cheese. Waxed paper pressed closely against the moist cut surface helps protect it from molding and drying. A little salad oil rubbed on also helps. If left out in the warm kitchen, some of the fat in the cheese is likely to melt and run out. If cheese becomes dry and hard, it may be grated and sprinkled over spaghetti or other favorite crease-flavored dishes.

To Prevent Runovers

Pies made from juicy fruits often give trouble during baking by bubbling up and running over the oven. As every housewife knows, this not only wastes juice but makes a scorched mass on the oven floor, difficult to clean off, and an unpleasant burned odor in the kitchen. This may be prevented. First, thicken the juice slightly. Second, have enough openings in the top crust to allow the steam to escape, or make the pie without a top crust. Third, build up or reinforce the edge of the pie. To thicken the filling, blend 1 to 2 tablespoons cornstarch with a little juice, then mix with the berries and add sugar as needed. The mixture may be cooked on top of the stove until thickened, or may be cooked in the crust during baking. Many cooks bake the crust first, then add cooked filling, and leave the top open. Others use a lattice top made with strips of pastry. If the pie is to be open top or lattice, a high fluted edge makes a well to hold in the juice. If a top crust is used, several slices should be made in it, and a reinforced edge may be made by trimming the pastry about an inch wider than the edge of the pan, then folding this overlap under the moistened edge of the lower crust and pressing the three layers gently together with a fork.

Iron Utensils On The Market

Cast iron cooking ware is on the market in larger quantities this spring. The iron released last fall to manufacturers of cooking utensils by the War Production Board is now appearing on retail shelves as skillets, griddles, kettles, and Dutch ovens.

Before the war, most cast iron cooking ware was seasoned at the factory, so was ready to use as soon as it was washed. The shortage of labor today, however, is bringing most iron utensils to market unseasoned, so this is a job that must be done in the home kitchen. Iron utensils that are not seasoned discolor foods and cause them to stick to the metal.

To season new cast iron kettles or pans, rub the inside with some unsalted fat such as vegetable oil, suet, or lard. Then heat the utensil several hours over low heat on top of the stove or in the oven. Rub off the fat with absorbent paper or a dry clean cloth, and let the utensil cool. Do not wash. Repeat the treatment the following day.

Attack Is On To Withstand Garden Pests

Sundry Insects Seek To Destroy Victory Gardens

Each successful victory garden becomes an enemy-spotter soon after he plants his vegetable seeds, believes Henry H. Baker of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture. The gardener is on the alert to detect the advance guard of bugs, beetles, and worms, since he knows they are bent on devastation of his home food supply.

At the first sign of an insect enemy agent, the forces of defense should be assembled for combat. An anti-bug barrage of insecticide sprays or dusts is the basic method of counter-attack, but may be supplemented with such other strategy as hand snipping, trapping, and even the scorched earth policy.

The accompanying "bug-war-dens," chart will help to identify the different insect enemies likely to attempt invasion of Missouri gardens: Aphids, or plant lice, are pinhead size, purplish, green or black sucking insects, usually found in clusters on the undersides of leaves or on tender stems of many garden plants.

Beetles

Asparagus beetles are highly-colored blue-black and yellowish chewing insects about 1/4 inch long. The larvae are dull gray with black heads and legs, and grow up to about 1/2 inch in length. Flea beetles are active, shiny, black or striped chewing insects about 1/8 inch long which perforate the leaves of many vegetable plants. Bean leaf beetles are about 1/2 inch long with four distinct dark spots on a reddish to yellowish-green background. They chew holes in the leaves and move quickly.

Mexican bean beetles, now known only in the southeast quarter of Missouri are spotted, copper-colored, roundish chewing insects about 3/8 inches long. They eat only on the undersides of leaves. Colorado potato beetles are striped yellow and black, thick-bodied about 3/4 inch long. The larvae are reddish-brown slugs and both are chewing types.

fresh meat or bread in the utensil, and clean by rubbing with paper or cloth, not with soap and water. When the fat has worked in thoroughly, the metal is seasoned and can be washed or not, as the cook prefers. Whenever it is to be stored, however, an iron utensil should be coated with unsalted fat and left uncovered to prevent rusting.

Cast iron discolors any acid food cooked in it, but this discoloration is harmless. Tomatoes, for example, which have turned brownish from cooking in an iron pan are wholesome, though not so attractive in color and flavor, but may have extra iron in a form which the body can use.

which eat the leaves and stems of potato plants.

Worms and Bugs

Cabbage worms are the velvety green, chewing larvae of the familiar spotted white butterfly which deposits its eggs on cabbage and related plants. Striped cucumber beetles are about equally black and yellow, nearly 1/2 inch long, and are most damaging to cucumbers, squash, melons, and pumpkins. Squash bugs have sucking mouth parts and are flat, brownish-black insects slightly more than 1/2 inch long. The immature bugs, called nymphs, are whitish in color and may be 1/8 to 1/2 inch long.

Adult harlequin cabbage bugs are red-spotted on black and are about 3/4 inch long. The smaller nymphs are similarly colored. Cut-worms may grow to a length of nearly 2 inches. Blister beetles are large chewing insects 1/2 to 3/4 inch long. Common kinds are brown striped, gray, and black. Corn ear worms are the green-striped to brownish worms familiar to everyone. They grow to a length of 2 inches and are most damaging to late season corn.

Tomato horn worms present a frightening appearance, being large and greenish, with a prominent horn. They are entirely harmless to handle. Although usually not numerous, one large worm can do much damage. Grasshoppers have versatile appetites which they attempt to satisfy by feeding on any garden crop.

Girl Scout Notes

Several Girl Scout troops were entertained by the leaders this week, as meetings will not be held regularly during the vacation period. Mrs. Roy Kirchhofer, leader of troop 18, Broadway, and Mrs. J. W. Leftwich, leader of troop 22, Leftwich, entertained the members of their troops with a dessert luncheon in the recreation room of the Christian church, after which Girl Scout songs and singing games were enjoyed.

Mrs. P. Cecil Owen, leader of troop No. 12, Broadway, entertained a group of boys and girls at the Country club Monday in honor of the girls in her troop who are graduating from the seventh to the eighth grade this year. The girls each received a corsage from Mrs. Owen. Assisting Mrs. Owen were Mrs. John C. McLaughlin, Mrs. C. L. Howard and Mrs. T. L. Bohon, troop mothers.

Mrs. Felix Sullivan, troop 24 St. Patrick's entertained her troop with a chili supper at Liberty Park. The girls assisted in the cook-out, which all seemed to enjoy. Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Comer, troop committee members accompanied the girls on the outing. Mr. Comer gave a very interesting talk on the merits of a good Girl Scout.

Troop 8 Horace-Mann, presented a short play in the school auditorium, written and produced by Dennis, Michael and Maxine Coon, "Girl Scouts on the Home Front." The girls were assisted by their leader, Mrs. S. Vandermere and Mrs. A. J. Harlan, who were hostesses to the girls and their mothers with a tea after the play. Mrs. C. D. Michael, contributed a real birthday cake in honor of her daughter.

Present prices of whiskey

Hiram Walker brands are supplied regularly, yet due to wartime demands your dealer often will be unable to furnish the brand you request

OUR GOVERNMENT has found it necessary to place higher taxes on many things in order to raise the billions of dollars needed to win this war.

And whiskey is one of the things on which a higher excise tax has been placed. In altering the prices, the distillery, the wholesaler, and the retailer are adding only the exact amount of the new tax, without "mark-up."

Since our plants stopped distilling whiskey in 1942 the only changes in official prices of Hiram Walker brands have been those due to excise taxes and OPA adjustments.

The official OPA prices of Hiram Walker brands in this city are now as follows:

Canadian Club

Blended Canadian Whiskey
90.4 proof. This whiskey is 6 years old
$5.18 4/5 QUART
$3.25 PINT
OFFICIAL OPA PRICES ON CANADIAN CLUB IMPORTED AFTER MARCH 31, 1944—INCLUDING LATEST FEDERAL EXCISE TAX (Missouri Sales Tax Additional)

Walker's DeLuxe

Straight Bourbon Whiskey
86 proof. This whiskey is 4 years old
$4.13 QUART
$2.11 PINT
OFFICIAL OPA PRICES—INCLUDING LATEST FEDERAL EXCISE TAX (Missouri Sales Tax Additional)

A substantial quantity of Hiram Walker brands is supplied regularly to this area. Yet the wartime demand is so great that your dealer often cannot furnish the brand you request. In fairness to him, please be patient and remember that the whiskey shortage is real... due to the war work of the distilleries. The best way to obtain your favorite brand is to ask for it every time!

Society
The Home Progressive club met Sunday at the home of August Mergen and daughters, Misses Louise and Marie Mergen, with the largest group of the year present.
A dinner, to which all contributed, was served at the noon hour.
During the afternoon the women held a business meeting and the men played various outdoor games.
Several new members were welcomed into the club. They were Mr. and Mrs. Presley Licklider, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Allcorn and Mr. and Mrs. George Schuber.
The next meeting will be an all day picnic at Liberty Park on June 18, with Mr. and Mrs. George Hull entertaining.

Sports Roundup
By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
NEW YORK, May 22—(AP)—Spring fever dept. . . . This columnist can hear with no serious increases in his blood pressure, that the ice is out in the Maine lakes and the landlocked salmon and togo are striking furiously; that in Wisconsin big pike are almost jumping into the boats; even that anglers by Peconic bay are hauling in weakfish by the dozen and a big run of blues is reported heading north. . . . But this note from Dave up at Freedom Village is almost too much to endure.

Just Fisin'
"Today I went fishing," Dave writes. "I dug some worms and started in at the village dam with the intention to fish down to the outlet. After 15 minutes I felt a helluva jerk and a few more, so I pulled in a 12-inch rainbow. No kidding, right in the brook directly behind the store. . . . The bugs are beginning to bite badly, but now I was determined that nothing could deter me. It really was beautiful down by the stream; the apple blossoms are all out and the brook is just high enough. Everything was perfect. . . . In the course of my excitement I lighted a cigarette. It smelled funny, or at least I thought I smelled something burning. It was only my new $1.19 sweat shirt. Just then I slipped and darn near went all the way in; I did manage to put the fire in my clothing out, though . . . The pungent smell of burning wool snuffed out the aroma of apple blossoms, but still I fished on. . . . Every time I got discouraged, the 12-inch would jump around in the basket and I would sing aloud (the worst thing one can do around a trout stream). . . . Down by Sim's I got another bite and another beautiful trout broke the water and played around before I stuck him in my basket—12½ inches. . . . The time is here; the fish are biting; the weather is great; tomorrow for breakfast I shall have a little rainbow trout. . . . Spring only comes once a year; why don't you come too, for a few outin'?"

P. S. If this column turns up missing for a few days, you'll know where I am.

Blue Monday
A new bill being prepared for the Louisiana legislature will give racing commissioners somewhat more substantial powers, as well as salaries that will enable them to devote more time to supervising racing. . . . Colorado U. has been inquiring about a football game with the Kearns, Utah, overseas replacement depot. . . . McKeesport, Pa., high school may lose two topnotch coaches to southern colleges. Harold (Duke) Weigle has been offered the job as backfield coach at Auburn under Carl Voyles and Cornelius (Nene) Campbell, who recently took a summer job as physical instructor at VMI, may stay there to coach basketball. . . . Donald Runge, the 16-year-old Dodge farmerhand who startled folks at Bear Mountain by asking how about candy when he was given movie money, recently asked for some change at an Olean, N. Y., cigar stand. . . . When questioned by the clerk, Don explained he wanted nickels to play the pinball machine. . . . "Can't do it," replied the clerk, "You're too young to gamble."

Browns Lose Doubleheader; Cards Split
Grimm's Cubs Surprise Everybody By Winning Two
By Ted Meier
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Detroit Tigers nudged the New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals out of the major league limelight yesterday. The Bengals swept a doubleheader from Washington to run their winning streak to six straight and climb into the American league first division.
Dizzy Trout and Hal Newhouse turned in two fine pitching performances to whip the Senators, 2 to 1 and 7 to 1, at Washington in the latest development of their road winning streak that started in Philadelphia last Wednesday night, when an error let Trout beat Bobo Newsom of the A's, in a 2-1 struggle. Trout has pitched two of the six games with Rufus Gentry, Johnny Gorsica, Stubby Overmire and Newhouse going the route in the other games.
Yanks Beat Browns Twice
Meanwhile the Yankees twice beat the St. Louis Browns at the Yankee stadium, before 59,161 (54,725 paid), largest crowd of the season. The Yanks took the opener, 4 to 3, in 12 innings when Geo. Caster forced home the winning run by walking Johnny Lindell with the bases loaded. The nightcap was comparatively easy for the Bronx Bombers 8 to 1.
The Cardinals, breezing along in the National league top spot, welcomed the New York Giants at St. Louis 10 to 3 in the first game, but had to be content with a split when the Giants took the nightcap 7 to 5. Giants Manager Mel Ott hit his first homer away from the Polo Grounds in two years.
Charley Grimm's Chicago Cubs surprised by blasting the Boston Braves, 15 to 1 and 14 to 5 at Wrigley Field. Al Javery, Braves starting pitcher, was banished in the third inning of the second game for disputing Umpire Jocko Conlan's calling of pitches behind the plate.
The Boston Red Sox wound up their home stand by whipping the Chicago White Sox twice, 4 to 3 and 9 to 2, to sweep a four-game series. The double setback dumped the Sox into the cellar.
Dodgers Dropping to Cellar
Cincinnati Reds shoved Brooklyn deeper into seventh place in the National loop by winning a double header, 5 to 3 and 6 to 5. Gee Walker's single with two out won the nightcap, which went 10 innings.
Cleveland made it three straight over Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics by taking the first game of a twin bill, 5 to 4, in 11 innings but dropped the nightcap, 3 to 2, on Steve Gromek's wild pitch in the eighth. George Kell of the A's scored from second on the errant heave. In the opener Bobo Newsom fanned 12 batters, but was the losing pitcher.
Frank Colman's pinch triple in the eighth gave Pittsburgh a 4 to 3 triumph over the Phillies in the first game of their twin bill at Pittsburgh. The Phils were ahead 9 to 4, in the second game when it was called after the eighth inning because of the Sunday curfew law. The last inning will be played the next time the Phils visit Pittsburgh. Until then the game does not count in the standings.

Banquet At Knob Noster
The junior-senior banquet of Knob Noster high school was given in the dining room of the Christian church with the senior colors, blue and white, used in decorations. The dining room presented the appearance of a plantation scene. Crepe paper streamers formed a canopy, and baskets of flowers were used. "The Past Forever Gone, the Future Still Our Own," class motto, was hung at the end of the room. Table decorations further carried out the theme.
The banquet was prepared by the A. M. C. Sunday school class of the Christian church, and the following sophomores served: Dolores Atwell, Mattie Clay Garner, Marjorie Kelly, Sadie Strickland, Marvin Rowland, Martin Rowland, Billy Dan Covey and Forrest Yankee. The girls wore southern costumes of blue and white, and the boys wore navy blue trousers with white shirts and blue ties.
During the banquet, Miss Mary Hogan played southern melodies on the piano.
Leland Logan was toastmaster of the following program: invocation; "Come On Down South," Leland Logan; "The Sunny South," Nita Leah Martin; "Southern Hospitality," Ruth Fisher; "My Old Kentucky Home," Ralph Apple; songs by boys' quartet; "Old Folks at Home," Louise Hinck.

Program for Oak Point Club
A new member, Mrs. Rush Janney, was added to the Oak Point Extension club at a recent meeting with Mrs. Norman Gibson. Mrs. C. W. Heffelfinger, president, presided over the business meeting.
Mrs. Pauline Correll, devotional leader, exhibited a small "Child's Bible," which a child can read and understand, and which can be bought in dime stores in coverings of black or white.
Mrs. Correll also gave a demonstration of dry cleaning.
Refreshments were served.
At a later meeting of the club with Mrs. R. L. Taylor, Miss Borothy Bacon gave a canning demonstration.
The next meeting will be in June with Mrs. Heffelfinger.
About 40 mothers and daughters attended a Mother-Daughter banquet given by the club May 14 at the school. Men of the community, wearing white shirts and white aprons, dished the food while boys, dressed in like manner, served.
The following program was presented: address by toastmistress, Mrs. C. W. Heffelfinger; prayer for mothers, Mrs. H. W. Tegtmeyer; history of Mother's day, Mrs. C. A. Crole; vocal solo, Barbara Crole, accompanied by Miss Mary Ella Guthrie; tribute to mothers, Mrs. E. E. Rhine; vocal duet, "Tribute to Daughters," Dorothy Hall and Allen Dohrman, accompanied by Dorothy June Rieckhoff; honor to the eldest mother present, Mrs. August Tegtmeyer, and to the youngest, Mrs. Marion Minor, by Mrs. Correll; vocal duet, Dorothy Hall and Alleen Dorlinger, accompanied by Dorothy June Rieckhoff; poem, Miss Jewell Taylor; closing prayer, Mrs. Ralph Minor.

Care of Flowers Is Discussed
Mrs. Arthur Duly was hostess to members of the Bowling Green Economic club at the May meeting, and Mrs. M. S. McKenzie was assisting hostess.
Mrs. J. B. Ellison, president, presided over the business meeting which followed dinner. "Something About the Care of Certain Flowers," roll call subject, revealed instructive flower hints for the spring season.
Mrs. Dabner and Mrs. Patrick, representatives of Striped College club, demonstrated and displayed pictures made of felt flowers, painted on glass, hand painted china and vases. Mrs. Edward Hein read the health letter and the news letter was read by Mrs. P. A. Carry. A demonstration of dry cleaning and pressing was given by Miss Flossie Ferguson. It was voted to serve refreshments at a U. S. O. dance.
The community hall will be the place of the next meeting, to be in June.

Mother's Day Program at Club
Mrs. George Putnam, president of the Syracuse club which met recently at the home of Mrs. Elmer Fowler, presided over the business meeting.
Mrs. B. A. Bridges, program leader, presented club members in a Mother's day program.
Mrs. Jim Anthony was appointed "canning aid" for the Syracuse district and Mrs. Stahl for the Burford district.
The next meeting will be with Mrs. Charley Mummert.

Quisenberry Club Changes Meeting Date
Quisenberry Extension club's next meeting time has been changed. Instead of the all-day meeting to have been held Wednesday, the club will hold an afternoon session, beginning at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday, at the home of Mrs. Ralph Hall, rural route six.

which aircraft would approach. Normally that side is opposite to the direction of the prevailing wind."
The threat of reprisals against those who help the Allies came from the Vichy radio.
"Consider carefully before you listen to General Eisenhower," said Philippe Henriot, Vichy information minister, in a broadcast in direct answer to Eisenhower's radio statement of Saturday. "The Allied invasion is a gamble and its success is a very open question."
The Germans themselves again sent reconnaissance planes over Britain last night in another of their almost nightly attempts to find clues to the Allies' invasion plans. These planes flew over North and Northeast Scotland and Southeast England. Bombs caused casualties and damage in one Kent town.

Private Waltz Rescues Man Hurt in Pool

Applies First Aid, Takes Him To Hospital

SEDALIA ARMY AIR FIELD—Pvt. Jack (Pat) Waltz, stationed at the Sedalia Army Air Field, a Troop Carrier Command Base, while on volunteer lifeguard duty at the Garden of Eden Swimming pool, Warrensburg, Mo., noticed a man in the water about 10 feet out, semi-conscious, and bleeding from the head. He immediately dove into the water, at the same time calling upon two sailors who were on the bank. All three reached the injured man and brought him into shore. Pvt. Waltz, due to his training and experience, was aware that the injury was serious, and rescued him by cross chest carry, resting the bleeding head upon his shoulder.
Realizing the young man, Apprentice Seaman, Howard G. Bowes, was badly hurt, Waltz made certain that the boy was not handled too much. He applied pressure behind the ear and partially stopped the bleeding. A car was commandeered from one of the spectators and Bowes was taken to the Naval Dispensary in Warrensburg.
Expert Swimmer.
Pvt. Waltz is an expert swimmer. His home is 2113 Glen Mount Ave., Akron, Ohio. He entered the service in April, 1943, and taught swimming at the Colorado State Teachers College until September, 1943, when he came to the Sedalia Army Air Field.
Seaman Bowes formerly resided at 1339 Roberto street, Salt Lake City, Utah. Commander Glen, Naval Surgeon, at Warrensburg, brought Bowes to the Sedalia Army Air Field station hospital, in a civilian ambulance. His condition is satisfactory, and he is expected to be flown to the Naval Regional Hospital, Great Lakes, Ill., as soon as his condition warrants his being moved.

The Markets

Stocks Higher

NEW YORK, May 22.—(AP)—Assorted stock specialties edged into new high ground for the year today while many market leaders found difficulty maintaining their equilibrium.
Principal inspiration for bidders was the outlook for earnings and dividends of individual companies. Although there was little, if any, invasion selling, potential purchasers here and there still seemed reluctant to make additional commitments pending more assurance securities were in shape to take "D-Day" in stride.
Fragional advances were well distributed at the opening and plus marks running to a point or so were observed near the fourth hour. Dealings, active for a while because of a sizeable turnover in low-priced shares, slackened later.
Bonds were selectively improved. Commodities remained hesitant.
Wall Streeters apparently were coming around to the view that "war is bearish and peace bullish." It was noted that the price averages stiffened during the past week as the Allied push toward victory in Europe picked up momentum.
May Rye Down
CHICAGO, May 22.—(AP)—A decline of about three cents was recorded in May rye today but the deferred rye contracts were strong as the result of short covering. Trading was nervous with wide price changes as traders closed out all May futures.
Wheat was about steady, the price supported by commercial buying. Oats were strong. Midwestern rains further delayed the seeding of corn, bookings of which were only slightly in excess of 50,000 bushels.

...and You Give Uncle Sam a Lift

Where would we be today if our forefathers had gone their separate ways at their own convenience? When this nation was in its infancy, neighbor gave neighbor a helping hand. That spirit expanded 13 struggling colonies into a vast, united nation.

Today our country is calling upon every one of us to enlist in a great awakening of that early American creed of helping ourselves by helping our neighbors. Sharing our automobiles is as easy as it is helpful. Wherever we go, there's somebody going our way. When we give him a lift, we give Uncle Sam a lift on the way to Victory.

In addition to supplying the armed forces with glider and bomber fuselage frames, wing parts, gun turret parts and foodstuffs, Anheuser-Busch produces materials which go into the manufacture of: Rubber • Aluminum • Munitions • Medicines • B Complex Vitamins • Hospital Diets • Baby Foods • Bread and other Bakery products • Vitamin-fortified cattle feeds • Batteries • Paper • Soap and Textiles—to name a few.

Is there an empty in the house?

If you've even one empty Pepsi-Cola bottle lying around — please return it to any Pepsi-Cola dealer. Every single bottle helps to avoid the serious glass shortage — helps to keep the supply of fresh, good Pepsi-Cola flowing your way.

So, one or one dozen, look 'em up, scout 'em out, bring 'em back — and we'll put them to work holding tangy, tasteful Pepsi-Cola for your summer-time enjoyment.

Thanks,
Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co.

In The Service

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Franke, 1817 South Stewart avenue, have received word of the safe arrival in Labrador of their son, Pvt. Edward Franke, Jr., who is stationed at a base hospital there with the medical detachment of the air corps.

Mrs. W. H. Harms, 1009 South Monroe avenue, was thrilled this morning to hear the voice of her son, Olin Paul Harms, 19, seaman second class, U. S. N. R., who reached Bremerton, Wash., Sunday after being in service in the Marshall Islands.

He said he would have a 28-day furlough, including six days of travel time, beginning June 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Harms' son entered service last July and went overseas in October.

He told his mother in his telephone call that he is all right, but that "things had been pretty tough sometimes" and that he had lots to tell. Young Harms added that he is in as good health as when he left, but is very tan.
